In recognition of the Moose Jaw Museum & Art Gallery's 50th anniversary during Canada 150, with the art museum officially opening its doors in 1967, this exhibition reflects the rich and diverse visual arts history of Moose Jaw and area through featured works currently housed in the collection vaults of the MJM&AG. Early examples of artistic work of this region are represented in the stunning beadwork of the Lakota and Cree peoples, as well as early 20th century works by settlers and artists represented in the Moose Jaw Branch of the Women's Art Association of Saskatchewan, a precursor to the Moose Jaw Art Guild. This exhibition will highlight leading Moose Jaw artists that were participating in or influenced by the major art movements of Saskatchewan art history.
